EXPRESSION OF THOUGHTS

A MONKEY'S HEART

Elders generally say that every person is born free and has the right to ask questions, right to education and right to live. But the reality is that we all were born and continued living trapped in a humongous sphere. I really get flabbergasted by the possessive attitude of people. They fight for spaces on the surface of the earth. What they don't know is that the earth itself is lost in the vast infinity of the universe. We all perhaps remember being snuffed by our parents when we asked too many questions. It's curiosity which brought us from the jungles to the dining tables. Neither Einstein dreamt of writing the theory of relativity one fine day nor the homo sapiens thought of covering themselves on a particular day. We all are taught to stay in our limits and then they inspire us with the proverb 'The sky isn't the limit'. We all must be familiar with the monkey God who had leaped to the universe to eat the sun in order to snub his hunger. He didn't know that the sun wasn't a ripe fruit and he didn't hesitate to venture outside his limits and the result was he became invincible. What we require today is a monkey's heart, the curiosity and the notoriety to venture across limits.

THE DEATH OF IMMATURE CHILDHOOD

Fairy tales? I don't read them anymore,
Playing with toys, I feel so sore.
People say I'm getting old,
I need to do things myself to be bold.
I don't dream those dreams I dreamt,
I don't care where the fairy tales went.
I can't even hide in the cupboard,
They say I'm entering the new world.
My parents aren't what they used to be,
Now I don't even get chocolates for free.
I get worried about what people would say,
I'm trapped from every way.
What my friends think matters a lot
I miss the homework which said 'Join the dots'.
I feel ashamed playing hide-and-seek,
Day by day I am falling weak.
I am worried about what I wear,
Of my looks I take special care.
I miss those days when people were nice,
And when I wasn't considered wise.
Those days while climbing trees
I felt so good,
But now I guess I have to mourn upon
The death of my immature childhood.

SAVE OUR NATURAL HERITAGE

Save animals and natural parks,
Till the trees not be reduced from their barks.
Save the jungles' beautiful sight,
For they are the nature's pride.
Cherish them with love's light,
For they are the nature's delight.
Shower your kindness till they exist,
And let them have a wonderful feast.
Our aim is to save animals and natural parks,
Till the trees not be reduced from their barks.

MY MOTHER

My mother is so nice
She encourages me all the time.
She is my inspiration,
A very good source of motivation,
She helps me in my studies
She never lead me to worries.
She is always there by my side,
Indeed she is a very good guide.
She looks after me all day,
And accompanies me when I go to play.
She doesn't want to see me fall,
Because she is the best of all.

MY HISTORY BOOK

When I open my history book,
I just don't want to take a look.
Oh! It's so boring,
That I start snoring.
Who can remember all those wars?
So, I go and sleep for hours,
Seeing sweet dream that I am Babar,
Or Rana building the victory tower.
Once I saw Birbal on mike,
And Shah Jahan was on his bike,
When Mumtaz Mahal gave a clap,
On my cheek I felt a slap.
And in front of me stood my mother.
Was it a dream? Yes, it was no other.
She ordered me to open my book,
Then I had to give a look.
