What is career counselling?

Career Counselling is the process of guiding people in making informed choices regarding career and academics. At Univariety career counselling is backed by scientific assessments and logic which determines the best suited career path for a student based on their passions, interests and personality. It also aligns the goals of parent and child in a way to fulfill the student's career goals.

Why is career counselling important?

Studies show that 85% of the working population is unhappy at their jobs. The main reason behind this is that most people fail to choose their best suited career path at the right time of their lives. Career counselling helps students in making the right career decisions at the right time. Students go through a journey of identification, realization and finally take a decision that is ideal for them.
