

Hospital Management is a career that is one of the fastest-rising career choice options for students all around the world. Especially in an over-populated country such as India, there are millions of people that get sick every day. It is rightly said that the hospital and healthcare business is the only one that will never face any kind of recession. These facts make the choice of medicine a very prestigious one in the country. Also, in a country where doctors are respected as much as gods in some areas, hospitals are slowly creeping their ways into rural areas.

An equally respected profession in India is management. When you combine both these professions to make a valuable as well as respected profession you get the career of Hospital Management. Pursuing a career in Hospital Management has several perks. Some of these perks include a high-paid package, good respect in the society as well as less competition in terms of acquiring a seat in a good college. Although there are only a handful of colleges in the country that offer a specialised education in the career of Hospital Management.

Course: Master's in Hospital Administration (MHA)

Duration: Two academic years divided into four semesters, each of six months duration. Annual intake is about 40 students a year per institute.

Eligibility: Bachelor's degree in Arts/ Science/ Commerce/ Engineering/ Technology/ Medical/ Dental/ Pharmacy/ Agriculture or any other professional courses from recognised Indian universities.

A few colleges in India that will provide you with the course are:

- ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Institute of Clinical Research, India
- ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ NBA School of Health Care Management, New Delhi
- ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Kohinor College of Paramedical Sciences, Mumbai
- ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Symbiosis Centre of Health Care, Pune
- ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ Apollo Institute of Hospital Administration