English for Academic Purposes is a full-time program divided into 9 levels of 8 weeks each. Your language skills are assessed by the college and you begin at the level that is right for you. Most students study for 6–10 months. The program prepares you for further academic study at the college.

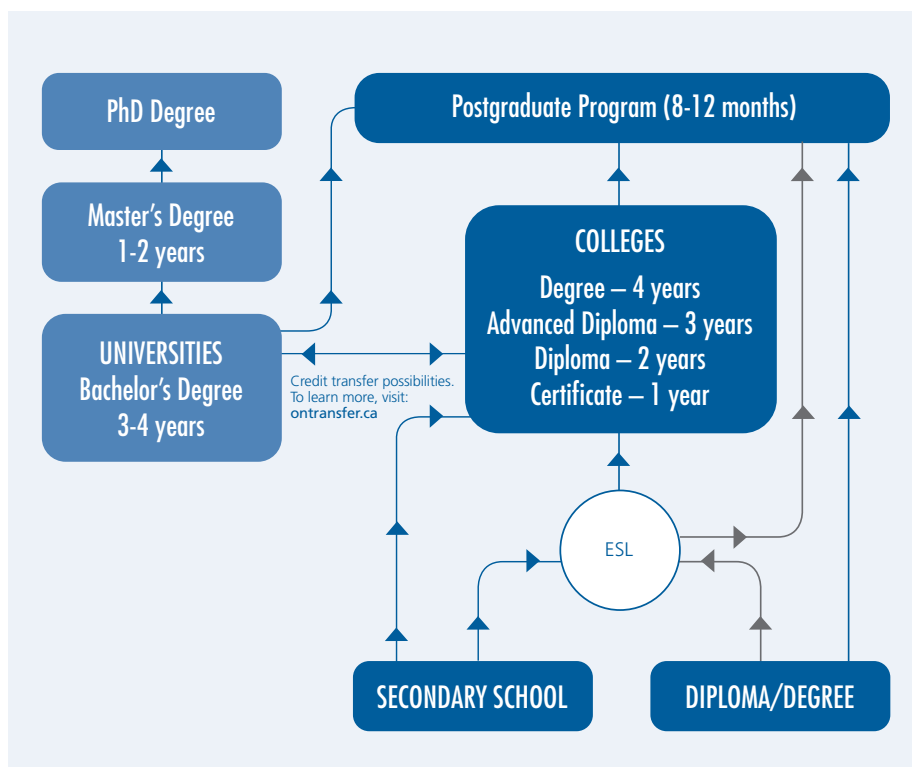

Diploma/Certificate Programs are one, two or three academic years in length. Programs have start dates in September, January and/or May.

Postgraduate Programs are offered for students who have already graduated from a university or college program. These are highly specialized 8 or 12 month programs designed to give graduates advanced skills in a specific professional field.

Degree Programs are offered in Financial Services, Hospitality, Construction Management, Early Childhood Development, Behaviour Analysis, and Interpretation. These are four-year Bachelor Degree programs, combining theoretical learning with opportunities for field education.

University Transfer A George Brown College diploma is a passport to further education at many Canadian and foreign universities. For information on current transfer agreements and future study options for graduates, see the Transfer Guide at transferguide.georgebrown.ca

CAREER OPTIONS

Our programs prepare you for careers in:

- Culinary and baking
- Nutrition and diet analysis
- Recipe and product development
- Hotel and resort operations
- Restaurant management
- Special event or conference planning
- Small business and entrepreneurship

NEWSWORTHY NOTES

Our Centre for Hospitality & Culinary Arts has produced many remarkable alumni, including Mark McEwan (Judge on Superstar Chef Challenge), Lynn Crawford (Judge on Chopped Canada), Jamie Kennedy (Recipient of the Governor General's Award and the Order of Canada), Minaz Abji (Executive Vice President, Host Hotels and Resorts), and Randy Morton (President and CEO, Bellagio, Las Vegas).

Our student-run restaurant, The Chefs' House, is a fully functioning restaurant and popular dining destination that provides students with real-world experience. We also have a new Café on campus run by George Brown College Culinary Arts students.

We've completed a major renovation of our facilities to create a cutting-edge collaboration and research hub — housed over four floors and dedicated to applied learning, research, events, and the collaboration of students and industry partners.

Whether in the classroom, during special lectures, on-site visits or through field placement, you will get to meet, learn from and be inspired by some of today's most exciting chefs and hospitality professionals. Our 14-week externships will prepare you for fast-paced work environments by giving you hands-on training in the city's best restaurants and hotels.

"When you look at the set-up here, I wish I were a student! Honestly, when I went to college, we had nowhere near the kind of set-up they've got here at The Chefs' House. I'm blown away with the standards that are produced here."

"George Brown College has been such an important part of my career. All the chefs here are so talented, helpful and inspiring. They always strive to update their skills and equipment with the change in market trends. Here at the Chef School, we learned so many new skills and techniques. They also took us on a study trip to France to enhance our skills. The overall exposure that they gave us was just incredible. If you're thinking of a culinary profession, it should be the Chef School at George Brown."

NEWSWORTHY NOTES

A student team from our School of Marketing won the gold medal at the annual Canadian Marketing Association Student Case Competition in 2014.

In 2016 the School of Marketing broke a world record with an in-class marketing project that attracted nearly 600 people to the world's largest sculpting class.

For some programs, students work at the George Brown Centre for Business Consulting Hub, to provide consulting services to small/medium sized businesses and not-for-profit organizations to help them achieve their goals.

"After the two-year program, I became a results-driven individual whose strengths are partnership building, management, creative event planning and public relations. Also, George Brown College has fostered my strategic thinking skills, the ability to identify new business opportunities in various industries including Recruiting, Event Planning and Education."

Shuai (Jerry) Gou

2015 Graduate, Business – Marketing;
2015 GBC Student Entrepreneur of the Year;
City of Toronto International Student Excellence Award in the Entrepreneurship category; Cofounder, VP Marketing, Reach Mobile Technologies

"Not only is it encouraging to see young minds being developed but the ambition that they're taking to strive to the top."

Ray Vozza

"What's different about this school compared to some other schools that we've worked in is that they have this openness to work with industry. They're really looking for partnerships in industry because their goal, ultimately, is to train their students."

Paul Rowan

George Brown College graduate, Co-founder, Umbra

NEWSWORTHY NOTES

George Brown College's Centre for Arts, Design & Information Technology is home to Canada's first YouTube incubator — one of nine spaces in the world — that offers training, networking and production opportunities to people who want to create content for the website's audience of one billion users.

Our School of Design is home to the city's first video game incubator, assisting in the growth of Toronto's gaming industry and providing field education opportunities to George Brown video game design students.

We are one of the first colleges to utilize motion capture technology and our motion capture suit is the same model used to create Gollum for the 'Lord of the Rings' films.

"I was looking for a program that could complement my academic and professional experience. The Interdisciplinary Design Strategy post-graduate program integrates multiple design disciplines through real-world projects to explore complex and globally driven challenges. I was able to apply my existing skills into the projects and to develop new technical and interpersonal skills which are valuable in any work context."

THE CENTRE FOR CONSTRUCTION & ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGIES (CCET)

offers training that gives you the technical expertise and the people skills critical to these industries. Field placements and research projects provide an applied learning experience, while our Industry Liaison Office connects you with employers recruiting our graduates. We work with industry partners to ensure our programs match current standards and practices used in the field today. Our new Green Building Centre provides a space for industry, faculty and students to work together and develop, test and implement sustainable building practices and technologies.

CAREER OPTIONS

Our programs prepare you for careers in:

- Drafting and design, urban planning
- Construction, renovation and restoration
- Environmental consultation, project management, general contracting
- Quality control, civil infrastructure design
- Electromechanical Engineering Technology – Building Automation

NEWSWORTHY NOTES

George Brown's new Green Building Centre opened in Fall 2014. One of the first facilities of its kind in Canada, it's a hub where students and industry connect to develop environmentally friendly and energy-efficient construction practices and products.

CCET partners with the University of Toronto's Institute for Aerospace Studies to contribute to research projects developing autonomous drones, nanosatellites and other technology.

Our Building Information Modeling (BIM) lab forms part of the Green Building Centre and is a space which trains students in virtual building design practices, and promotes industry innovation through applied research projects.

"My program provided me with a great education that I can actually utilize in the real world. I also had the opportunity to work as a Student Assistant at the International Centre. I really appreciate the International Centre and George Brown College for my academic and work experiences and I hope more students can get what I had here too."

If you require homestay accommodation (with optional airport pick-up), make sure that your homestay application reaches Student Homestay Services at least three weeks before your arrival date. Apply at homestayservices.ca

HOMESTAY FEES

(Effective June 1, 2017)

Homestay placement fee (one-time, non-refundable)	$195
Airport reception fee (one way, by request only)	$100
Accommodation + 2 meals (breakfast & dinner) [Internet access included]	$800 / 4 weeks
Accommodation + 3 meals (breakfast, lunch & dinner) [Internet access included]	$865 / 4 weeks

OTHER HOUSING OPTIONS

Toronto has a large housing and rental market that offers numerous accommodation options for students. Rent can be costly in a large city like Toronto so, while there are opportunities to be found (especially if you are willing to share a space), it is very important to establish a reasonable budget and give yourself plenty of time to explore your options. Estimated costs for privately arranged accommodation may range from $500-$1,200 per month, depending on individual living situation and location. For more information visit: georgebrown.ca/housing

WORKING IN CANADA

"TD Bank works with George Brown College in a number of beneficial ways, we hire George Brown's grads, we also offer work terms to their co-op students, who bring us their enthusiasm, creativity and know-how in the exchange for the opportunity to get real-life work experience."

Doug Turnbull

Vice Chair
TD Securities

In 2015-16, 94% of our qualifying programs offered field education opportunities.

FIELD EDUCATION

Toronto is home to most of Canada's major employers. For example, GM, Ford, IBM, TD Bank, and the Toronto Stock Exchange all have their offices in and around Toronto.

Many employers look for real-world work experience when hiring new graduates and this is where George Brown can give you a competitive edge in the job market. Most of our programs have a field education component, which means you have a valuable opportunity to work and learn with industry partners that may become your future employer.

Co-ops, externships, internships, field education and practicums – all of these ultimately mean one thing: gaining valuable work experience as part of your program.

CO-OP WORK PERMIT

International students who are undertaking any kind of field education (co-op, externship, practicum, work experience, clinical, etc.), regardless of length, must have a valid co-op work permit. You should apply for this at the same time as your study permit application.

For more information, please visit IRCC's website at: cic.gc.ca/english/study/work.asp

CAREER COACH

George Brown College can help you launch your career and show you what to expect when you enter the job market. Use our Career Coach tool which provides the latest data on industry trends for the Greater Toronto Area, including salaries, job opportunities and education options, in various fields: cc.georgebrown.ca

CAREER SERVICES

Gaining the necessary skills and knowledge is key to getting the job — but is not enough by itself. That's where George Brown's Career Services department comes in, with free services to help you sharpen your job-hunting skills. From career workshops to an online job board (gbcareers.georgebrown.ca) to individual consultations with an advisor, Career Services is here to help you succeed. For more information, visit georgebrown.ca/careerservices

WORKING DURING YOUR STUDIES

As a George Brown student, you may be eligible to work both on- or off-campus. To qualify, you must have a valid Study Permit and be registered full-time in a certificate, diploma or degree granting program of at least six months in duration. You can work up to 20 hours per week during regular academic sessions and full-time during scheduled breaks. You do not need a work permit; however you must have a Social Insurance Number which you can apply for after you arrive in Canada.

WORKING AFTER YOU GRADUATE

You may be eligible to work and earn income for up to 3 years in Canada after graduation. You will need to apply for a Post-Graduation Work Permit to do so*. Toronto offers one of the most vibrant and diverse employment markets in Canada for you to add North American employment experience to your resume.

For more information, please visit IRCC's website at: cic.gc.ca/english/study/work.asp

* Please note that a small number of programs may not be eligible for a Post-Graduation Work Permit due to the % of online delivery in the program. Please check with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) to confirm eligibility.

"The wonderful experience I had at George Brown College (GBC) has widened my horizons both academically and personally. Ultimately, it yielded me my dream job, managing a large HR department in a top 5 global bank within the Greater Toronto Area, minutes away from my downtown home. I am grateful and indebted to the many people who were pivotal in my success journey and I would not have been able to make it this far, without my support system and "family in GBC". Thank you GBC, I'll be forever honoured and proud to be called a GBC graduate!"

*Applications for conditional admission through English for Academic Purposes (EAP) will be processed throughout the year according to the EAP start dates.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

In order to be admitted into the program of your choice you must:

- Have graduated from senior secondary school or equivalent (those applying for a postgraduate program must have graduated from a university or college)
- Be 18 years of age or older at the time of registration
- Pay the non-refundable $95 application fee
- Provide proof of English proficiency, if English is not the first language in your country. Please see your options for providing proof of English proficiency below.

STUDY PERMITS/TEMPORARY RESIDENT VISA/WORK PERMITS

If you want to study in Canada for more than 6 months you must apply for a Study Permit. Study Permits are not issued from within Canada. You must apply to Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) which is located in your nearest Canadian Embassy, High Commission or Consulate. Official information on requirements can be obtained from an IRCC office in Canada, a Canadian Embassy or Consulate overseas or from the IRCC website at cic.gc.ca. A Temporary Resident Visa (Visitor Visa) is sufficient if you want to study for 6 months or less.

If your program has a co-op/field/work experience/clinical placement required, please apply for your Co-op Work Permit along with your Study Permit application.
