

Your Personality

Your personality type is ESFJ:

Introversion

Introversion (I) vs. Extraversion (E)

How we interact with the world and where we direct our energy.

Introversion

- Focus attention inward
- Enjoy tasks that require concentration
- Work best on one project at a time
- Work at a careful, steady pace
- Consider things fully before speaking

Extraversion

- Focus attention outward
- Enjoy a variety of tasks
- Seek out and need other people
- Work at a rapid pace
- Need to talk through their ideas

Ntuition

Sensing (S) vs iNtuition (N)

What kind of information we naturally focus on and remember.

Sensing

- Focus on "what is"
- Like working with what can be seen and touched
- Apply past experience to solving problems
- Need specific and realistic directions

iNtuition

- Focus on "what could be"
- Enjoy theory and speculation
- Like thinking about the future and possibilities
- Need to use their imagination

Thinking |

eelind

Thinking (T) vs. Feeling (F)

Make decisions logically and impersonally, or use personal values.

Thinking

- Are motivated by achievement
- Enjoy analyzing problems logically
- Make fair and unbiased decisions
- Need to weigh the pros and cons to make decisions
- Can be tough negotiators

Feeling

- Motivated by work that is meaningful
- Sensitive to how issues affect people
- · Like helping others and being appreciated
- Need decisions to be congruent with their values
- Need to work in a friendly environment

Judging (J) vs. Perceiving (P)

More structured (finalize decisions) or more spontaneous (keep options open).

Judging

- Enjoy work that allows them to make decisions
- Prefer a predictable work pattern and environment
- Work towards completing their responsibilities before relaxing
- Like to maintain control of their projects

Perceiving

- Enjoy flexible and changing work situations
- Like to be able to respond to problems as they arise
- Are more satisfied with fewer rules and procedures
- Need to have fun in their work

Your Personality Profile

Friendly and outgoing, you enjoy meeting people. Relationships are important to you. You care about people's feelings, and are eager to please and help others in real and practical ways. You are sympathetic and caring, with strong opinions based on your values.

Energetic and interested in lots of things, you have many projects, activities and friends. You have great common sense and a good memory for detail. Hardworking, organized and conscientious, you enjoy being part of a cooperative team. You value tradition, take your responsibilities seriously, and are willing to put a lot of energy into the things you believe in.

You need harmony in your relationships and tend to avoid conflict. You may also take criticism very personally. You like a constant routine and may be a bit rigid when you don't have time to adjust to changes. Once you've made up your mind it's often hard to go back, even if new information comes to light. Eager to get things done, you may make decisions too quickly and then feel stuck with those choices.

You do not naturally focus on possibilities, especially the less obvious ones, and may get discouraged if you can't see a way out of a bad situation. Once frustrated, you may feel the problem is hopeless and give up, or become negative and critical. You sometimes need help looking past the immediate to the future implications of your choices.

You are very literal and like others to be clear and explicit about their expectations of you. Since you strive to be prepared at all times, you may have trouble improvising or dealing with sudden changes of plan. Organized and efficient, you generally like to work carefully and steadily through a project, one step at a time.

You described your profile as:

L	ea	ar	n.	ln	g studies.

Strengths Concrete learner	Challenges  ☐ Dislike abstract ideas
Good memory for details, especially those with personal meaning	Need clear, orderly, sequential instruction
Conscientious, eager to please	Can be very literal
✓ Organized	☐ Difficulty working alone
Learn well with others	Need regular supportive feedback
☐ Deadline-oriented
Joiner", like the sense of belonging
Recommendations
The following recommendations are based on your results. best for you.	Consider each and select the ones you think would work examples. Take advantage of opportunities to learn thro	refer fact-based subjects, practical explanations and real-life ough experience, especially those where you can take part in on field trips and take part in labs, role playing, seminars or activities.
setting. Look for ways to engage with other students the	to better when you're able to interact and study in a group rough team activities, presentations, class discussions and oportunities to interact. When required to do independent spending time with others.
	t ideas and future possibilities, participate in group activities, you're studying. The practical nature of these activities will ur instructor how the information is used by or for people. If o a real-life situation or problem, it can help to make it more
Meet with your instructors regularly to ensure you're cle educational progress. Explain that you work hard to memotivate you.	er about their expectations and to talk about your et their requirements and that positive feedback helps to
For Learning Environments
You learn best in an educational setting that offers a relawith others as part of a team. Look for well-defined progredictability, and courses with clearly stated objectives interested.
	I subjects that are consistent with your career interests. Apply allow you to gain hands-on experience. If you enjoy travel, ns.
	receive public recognition for your efforts. For example, you t newspaper, radio or TV station, get involved with musical or

Work and Productivity

_		_	_
ſ	_	-	1
	П	П	ш
- U	L	닏	"
- 1			/
	•	_

Supportive, focused on helping others Comply with authority, rules and standards Dutiful Punctual Punctual Methodical, like routine May of fully consider future implications  Recommendations Recommendations The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment Cives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others. Make use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature. Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time. Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them. Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently. Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in	Strengths	Challenges
Supportive, focused on helping others   Seek   Seek	Responsible, meet obligations	Difficulty working alone others   Seek   approval   Inflexible   Punctual   Hasty decisions, may act on incorrect   assumptions   Methodical, like routine   Methodical, like routine   May distract others   May not fully consider future   implications   May distract others   May not fully consider future   implications   May distract others   May not fully consider future   implications   May distract others   May not fully consider future   May not fully consider future   implications   May distract others   May not fully consider future   May not fully	Reliable, hard worker	May be
Comply with authority, rules and standards   Inflexible   Inflexible   Punctual   Hasty decisions, may act on incorrect assumptions   May distract others   May not fully consider future implications   May not fully consider future   May not fully	Supportive, focused on helping	judgmental
Dutiful	others	_
Hasty decisions, may act on incorrect assumptions   May distract orthers   May not fully consider future implications   May not fully fu	Comply with authority, rules and standards assumptions  Methodical, like routine  Methodical, like routine  May distract others  May not fully consider future Implications  Recommendations  The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment  Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working,	☐ Dutiful
Methodical, like routine  May distract others  May not fully consider future implications  Recommendations  The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment  Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change, Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or errat	Punctual
Recommendations  The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Prefered Environment  Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, un	Methodical, like routine	·
May not fully consider future implications  Recommendations  The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment   Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.   Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.   Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.   Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.   Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development   Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.   Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.   Respect the time and spa
Recommendations  The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment  Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, u
The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.  Your Preferred Environment  Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that yo		-
Your Preferred Environment  ☐ Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  ☐ Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  ☐ Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  ☐ Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  ☐ Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  ☐ Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  ☐ Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  ☐ Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use break	Recommendations
<ul> <li>Gives you work that benefits people in a real and practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.</li> <li>Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.</li> <li>Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.</li> <li>Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.</li> <li>Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.</li> <li>For Growth and Development</li> <li>Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.</li> <li>Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those</li></ul>		esults. Consider each and select the ones you think would work skills to organize people and processes and provide support to others.  Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.  Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act	Your Preferred Environment
<ul> <li>Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication and cooperative nature.</li> <li>Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.</li> <li>Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.</li> <li>Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.</li> <li>For Growth and Development</li> <li>Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.</li> <li>Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.</li> <li>Make sure you have all the necessary information befo</li></ul>	Gives you work that benefits people in a real and	practical way. You are happiest when able to use your interpersonal Provides you with clear directions, expectations and deadlines. Disciplined, detail-oriented and well-organized, you like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and like to know specifically what's required of you in terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be productive and complete things on time.  Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyon	Makes use of your energy, productivity, dedication	n and cooperative nature.
<ul> <li>□ Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.</li> <li>□ Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.</li> <li>For Growth and Development</li> <li>□ Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.</li> <li>□ Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>□ Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.</li> <li>□ Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.</li> <li>□ Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from findi</li></ul>	· ·	-
<ul> <li>□ Takes place in a friendly, stable and supportive environment that allows for plenty of interaction and where you can establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.</li> <li>□ Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.</li> <li>For Growth and Development</li> <li>□ Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.</li> <li>□ Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>□ Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.</li> <li>□ Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.</li> <li>□ Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from findi</li></ul>		terms of tasks, procedures and schedules so that you can be establish warm social relationships with others. You may feel that your colleagues are also your friends. You like to help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the	· - help, want to know about their lives and enjoy observing special days, events and traditions at work with them.  Provides regular positive feedback. You need to know that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.  For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the <ul> <li>supervisor approves of your work. You find it upsetting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.</li> <li>For Growth and Development</li> <li>Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.</li> <li>Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.</li> <li>Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.</li> <li>Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the</li> </ul>
For Growth and Development  Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the	Provides regular positive feedback. You need to k	now that people like you, your peers appreciate you and your
Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the	supervisor approves of your work. You find it upse	tting if you do not receive adequate recognition for your efforts.
Accept that things don't always go according to plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the	For Growth and Development like learning new ways of doing things and are reluctant to improvise. This can result in stress and frustration when things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creativity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.  Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the		plan, and that plans change. You tend to be set in your ways, don't Avoid the impulse to interfere if others don't meet your standards. You respect authority, value guidelines, have a strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the strict moral code and stick to the rules. Understand that other people have their own views, principles, behaviors and ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.  Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the	things change. Learn to be flexible, use your creat	ivity and be willing to take a chance on doing things differently.
<ul> <li>ways of working, even if it looks unproductive or erratic to you.</li> <li>Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.</li> <li>Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.</li> <li>Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the</li> </ul>	· · Respect the time and space of others around you. While you love to socialize, understand that your talkative nature can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the can be disruptive to those who need quiet time to concentrate and do their work. Use breaks to catch up with people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the people or arrange to get together after work hours.  Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the <ul> <li>Make sure you have all the necessary information before making a decision. You tend to act quickly and rely on your past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.</li> <li>Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the</li> </ul>		· past experience, feelings and personal values to make the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica and objective manner and think carefully about the potential consequences.  Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the ☐ Work on developing your ability to look beyond the present. You may benefit from finding a mentor — a trusted colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the		nake the right choice. Take time to consider your options in a logica colleague or advisor — with whom you can discuss decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the
	_
	colleague or advisor — with whom you can discus choices you make.	is decision making, planning and the potential repercussions of the

Communication

Strengths  Warm  Pleasant  Assertive  Nurturing  Outgoing  Good at creating rapport	Challenges  ☐ May be too familiar for reserved types ☐ Easily hurt ☐ React emotionally ☐ Need validation, approval ☐ Struggle with providing and receiving criticism
Recommendations
The following recommendations are based on your results best for you.	s. Consider each and select the ones you think would work putting them at ease. Some people are naturally very of problems or feelings. Don't be offended if they seem didoesn't mean they're judging you.  It can be difficult to control your emotions during interdown when you're speaking passionately about somet them uneasy. When you feel yourself getting worked to	you. You are very good at connecting with most people and quiet or aren't comfortable talking about their lives, needs, listant or unfriendly. Perhaps they just don't need your help. It need discussions. If you notice people tend to back off or shut thing, it could be that you are being too emotional and making up, take a deep breath, pause to collect your thoughts, and hally. Practice speaking up for yourself assertively without about the purpose of their comments. It's not intended your emotional reaction and consider the criticism as of	rsonally. When someone provides you with feedback, think d to be an attack; it's supposed to help you. Try to set aside objectively as you can. How can it help you correct a the point being made or don't understand its relevance, ask omments may be viewed as disapproving and you could end our message, think about whether your expectations of the other person are fair and achievable. Remember that others may not have the same values and abilities as you. Try to deliver your feedback in a reasonable, nonjudgmental way that focuses on fixing the problem, not the person.

Working with Others

plans.

Strengths	Challenges
☐ Inspire loyalty	Expect mutual support
Cooperative	Avoid
☐ Generous	conflict
Caring and helpful	Sensitive
Notice and respond to others' needs	Self-sacrificing ☐ Build good relationships with colleagues
Recommendations
The following recommendations are based on your results. best for you. $ \$	Consider each and select the ones you think would work
For Interacting with Others avoid conflict. However, that doesn't solve anything and noring disagreements won't make them disappear. As much they arise. Do your best to keep emotion out of it and deal
You may feel betrayed if people disagree with you. You we Understand that people have their own ideas and opinion than viewing it as disloyal.	want them to listen and support you in return for your help. ons. Use this as an opportunity to learn about them, rather
You are sincerely concerned about other people and do you happy, take care not to neglect your own needs. If y some people may feel smothered and will push you awarespond with the same level of consideration.	ou try to do too much, you risk overextending yourself. Also, time to understand your team's individual strengths and	al skills to coordinate people, plans and resources. Take the d assign each person's tasks based on those criteria. Ensure ccomplishment or a smaller task that has helped the group. ments, and be open to questions and discussion.
For Filling a Role
Facilitator : promoting goodwill, building rapport, support recognizing contributions, keeping things positive.	orting and encouraging the group in completing tasks,
Expediter : advancing progress by any means necessary others into action.	, dealing with whatever needs to be done and motivating
☐ Planner : gathering, recording, organizing and clarifying	information for the group, filling in detail and drawing up

Career and Pathways

The careers listed below are all linked to your assessment results, with the careers at the top being the best match for your profile.

Personality Results

Personality Results		)
Stonemasons	Architecture and Construction
Construction Managers	Architecture and Construction
Boilermakers	Architecture and Construction
Electrical Power-Line Installers and Repairers	Architecture and Construction
Service Unit Operators, Oil, Gas, and Mining	Architecture and Construction
Segmental Pavers	Architecture and Construction
First-Line Supervisors of Construction Trades and Extraction Workers	Architecture and Construction
Solar Energy Installation Managers	Architecture and Construction
First-Line Supervisors of Landscaping, Lawn Service, and Groundskeeping Workers	Architecture and Construction
Structural Metal Fabricators and Fitters	Architecture and Construction
Surveyors	Architecture and Construction
Roof Bolters, Mining	Architecture and Construction
Crane and Tower Operators	Architecture and Construction
Excavating and Loading Machine and Dragline Operators	Architecture and Construction
HelpersBrickmasons, Blockmasons, Stonemasons, and Tile and Marble Setters	Architecture and Construction
Biomass Power Plant Managers	Business Management and Administration
Chief Executives	Business Management and Administration
Fundraisers	Business Management and Administration
Patient Representatives	Business Management and Administration
Industrial Production Managers	Business Management and Administration
Training and Development Managers	Business Management and Administration
Wind Energy Operations Managers	Business Management and Administration
Human Resources Managers	Business Management and Administration
Executive Secretaries and Executive Administrative Assistants	Business Management and Administration
Loss Prevention Managers	Business Management and Administration

Meeting, Convention, and Event Planners	Business Management and Administration
Training and Development Specialists	Business Management and Administration
General and Operations Managers	Business Management and Administration
Biofuels Production Managers	Business Management and Administration
Human Resources Specialists	Business Management and Administration
Freight and Cargo Inspectors	Government and Public Administration
Emergency Management Directors	Government and Public Administration
Municipal Clerks	Government and Public Administration
Postmasters and Mail Superintendents	Government and Public Administration
Nurse Midwives	Health Science
Radiation Therapists	Health Science
Dental Hygienists	Health Science
Licensed Practical and Licensed Vocational Nurses	Health Science
Midwives	Health Science
Orthotists and Prosthetists	Health Science
Clinical Nurse Specialists	Health Science
Medical Assistants	Health Science
Physical Therapist Aides	Health Science
Athletic Trainers	Health Science
Medical and Health Services Managers	Health Science
Physical Therapists	Health Science
Occupational Therapy Aides	Health Science
Respiratory Therapy Technicians	Health Science
Acute Care Nurses	Health Science
Healthcare Social Workers	Human Services
Marriage and Family Therapists	Human Services
Directors, Religious Activities and Education	Human Services
Social and Community Service Managers	Human Services
Rehabilitation Counselors	Human Services
Substance Abuse and Behavioral Disorder Counselors	Human Services
Morticians, Undertakers, and Funeral Directors	Human Services
Mental Health and Substance Abuse Social Workers	Human Services
	Human Services

Clergy	Human Services
Health Educators	Human Services
Funeral Attendants	Human Services
Community Health Workers	Human Services
Mental Health Counselors	Human Services
Social and Human Service Assistants	Human Services
First-Line Supervisors of Aquacultural Workers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Aquacultural Managers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Forest and Conservation Workers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Farm and Ranch Managers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
First-Line Supervisors of Animal Husbandry and Animal Care Workers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Nursery and Greenhouse Managers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Buyers and Purchasing Agents, Farm Products	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Tree Trimmers and Pruners	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Clinical Research Coordinators	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
First-Line Supervisors of Logging Workers	Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources
Forest Fire Inspectors and Prevention Specialists	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Lifeguards, Ski Patrol, and Other Recreational Protective Service Workers	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Municipal Firefighters	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Municipal Fire Fighting and Prevention Supervisors	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Police Patrol Officers	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Forest Fire Fighting and Prevention Supervisors	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
First-Line Supervisors of Police and Detectives	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
First-Line Supervisors of Correctional Officers	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security

Judges, Magistrate Judges, and Magistrates	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Title Examiners, Abstractors, and Searchers	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Fire Inspectors	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Emergency Medical Technicians and Paramedics	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Forest Firefighters	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Security Guards	Law, Public Safety, Corrections and Security
Lodging Managers	Hospitality and Tourism
Food Service Managers	Hospitality and Tourism
Recreation Workers	Hospitality and Tourism