

Your Personality

Your personality type is ESFP:

Introversion Extraversion

Introversion (I) vs. Extraversion (E)

How we interact with the world and where we direct our energy.

Introversion

- Focus attention inward
- Enjoy tasks that require concentration
- Work best on one project at a time
- Work at a careful, steady pace
- Consider things fully before speaking

Extraversion

- Focus attention outward
- Enjoy a variety of tasks
- Seek out and need other people
- Work at a rapid pace
- Need to talk through their ideas

iNtuition

Sensing (S) vs iNtuition (N)

What kind of information we naturally focus on and remember.

Sensing

- Focus on "what is"
- Like working with what can be seen and touched
- Apply past experience to solving problems
- Need specific and realistic directions

iNtuition

- Focus on "what could be"
- Enjoy theory and speculation
- Like thinking about the future and possibilities
- Need to use their imagination

Thinking |

Thinking (T) vs. Feeling (F)

Make decisions logically and impersonally, or use personal values.

Thinking

- Are motivated by achievement
- Enjoy analyzing problems logically
- Make fair and unbiased decisions
- Need to weigh the pros and cons to make decisions
- Can be tough negotiators

Feeling

- Motivated by work that is meaningful
- Sensitive to how issues affect people
- Like helping others and being appreciated
- Need decisions to be congruent with their values
- Need to work in a friendly environment

Judging (J) vs. Perceiving (P)

More structured (finalize decisions) or more spontaneous (keep options open).

Judging

- Enjoy work that allows them to make decisions
- Prefer a predictable work pattern and environment
- Work towards completing their responsibilities before relaxing
- Like to maintain control of their projects

Perceiving

- Enjoy flexible and changing work situations
- Like to be able to respond to problems as they arise
- Are more satisfied with fewer rules and procedures
- Need to have fun in their work

Your Personality Profile

Friendly, warm and energetic, you have a large circle of friends. Lively, talkative and easygoing, your love of life draws others to you. You seek fun in everything you do and are at your best when doing things with people you enjoy. Realistic, sensible and pragmatic, you are good with details and have a great memory for the facts that pertain to people.

Sympathetic and eager to help, you try to avoid criticizing others and usually are not interested in controlling them. You use common sense to devise solutions to immediate problems and provide practical help to other people. Spontaneous and adaptable, you don't like to be limited by rules but are able to respond quickly to situations and handle several things at the same time.

You have trouble planning ahead, as you don't like to organize your activities and tend to live entirely in the present. This can leave you unprepared for events that you might otherwise have anticipated. While you are pleasant and agreeable, you may have doubts about theories or techniques with which you have no personal experience. Being so social, you are sometimes distracted from your obligations and can find yourself overcommitted because it is so difficult to turn things down.

Most of your decisions are based on your personal feelings and experiences, so you may not foresee the more logical consequences of your actions. You should practice trying to view things objectively, so that you can fully understand a situation and the potential effects of your choice.

You described your profile as:

For Learning Environments

Ensure your course selections consist mainly of practical subjects that are compatible with your career interests.
Seek out instructors who are outgoing, easy to talk to and accessible. Apply for internships, co-ops or work-study programs that will allow you to gain hands-on experience. If you enjoy travel, you might also want to check out study abroad programs.

- You work well with others and like to learn in a fun, lively environment where the instructors are friendly and relaxed, and you're able to interact with the group. Participate in class discussions, brainstorming sessions, group project work and team-based learning activities. When required to do independent work, take a brief break every so often to reenergize by spending time with others.
- You thrive on variety. Mix up your course selections and schedule to add diversity to your assignments and daily routine. Take advantage of interdisciplinary study options. Don't try to juggle too many large assignments at once or you may become overwhelmed.
- Outside of class, make time to have fun, exercise your creativity, and socialize. Volunteer or participate in extracurricular activities with a strong social element. For example, you could join clubs or organizations, help out at the student newspaper, radio or TV station, get involved with musical or sports events, or join a volunteer group. Take care not to spend so much time socializing that you neglect your studies.

Recommendations

The following recommendations are based on your results. Consider each and select the ones you think would work best for you.

For Sending and Receiving Communication

When communicating with others, size up the situation by judging people's posture, reactions and responses. If discussing serious matters, it may be necessary to tone down your usual exuberance. Similarly, try to be cognizant of people's need for privacy, space or quiet time.

- You are good at providing others with positive feedback, but may struggle with disciplining people or providing them with constructive criticism. You don't want to hurt people's feelings. Understand that feedback is essential to help people learn and grow. Come up with a clear and straightforward message that describes the problematic issue or behavior and suggestions for how the person can deal with it.
- You appreciate supportive, non-judgmental feedback on your performance. It builds your self-esteem and helps you feel confident. But you may find it difficult to accept corrective feedback. Remember that constructive criticism is intended to help. It's not an attack on you personally. Try to view the feedback as an honest attempt to help. While it may hurt to hear it, the other person is trying to help you improve by pointing out a problem and helping you understand how to deal with it.
- You may have difficulty processing information or directions that are spoken or written. Where appropriate, ask for a demonstration, so that you can see what is required and practice it yourself. It may also help to discuss the information with others, as you learn best through thinking out loud.

For Interacting with Others

solutions that will satisfy everyone.

Observant, entertaining and highly social, you are quick to notice a downturn in your team's mood. Use your strengths to direct them back to a cooperative, productive group focused on the goal at hand. One of your greatest gifts is the ability to make experiences fun and positive for others.
While you're good at deflecting conflict and resolving immediate problems, you may try to avoid dealing with issues that can't be fixed easily or right away. Recognize that ignoring disagreements won't make them disappear. As much as you dislike it, it's important to try and resolve these situations when they arise. Learn to say "No". You like to help and want to be involved in everything. But if you take on too much responsibility, i will hinder your ability to get things done and could hold the team back. Be clear about what you can and can't do, and don't let others take advantage of your good nature and willingness to help.
Make sure you prepare sufficiently for team meetings and group projects. While you may dislike organizing your tasks and activities, others may be relying on you in order to complete their own tasks and meet their responsibilities. Be considerate and put in the effort required to organize your thoughts, questions and materials.
Understand when it's not OK to talk or joke around. Your fun-loving attitude and ability to lighten the mood are usually an advantage. But if you're disrupting others when they're trying to work, that's not helpful and could get you in trouble.
If you're a leader, use your strengths to promote an active, motivated team in which everyone participates. Don't play favorites or give preferential treatment, even though you may naturally feel more of an affiliation with friendly, talkative types like yourself. Remember that everyone has a role to play and be willing to share the spotlight.
er Filling a Role Expediter: advancing progress by any means necessary, dealing with whatever needs to be done and motivating others into action.

Facilitator: promoting goodwill, building rapport, supporting and encouraging the group in completing tasks,

Advocate: championing ideas and people, striving for balance and harmony, building consensus, looking for creative
